Oranges are cheap. December went out with a chill. There was lightning Tuesday night. Don't forget to write it 1892 now. Old 1891 was a pretty good year for us all. You can't measure a girl's love by its sights. New tints are a red gold and a rich russet. The school boys and girls will return to their books next week. It isn't the man with the heaviest purse who has the lightest heart. May the New Year have many good things in store for our readers. Business is not so brisk in the stores now and stock taking is in order. Be as good as you can in '92 and try and keep it up all through the year. It is hard for the young man who is just learning to ride the bicycle to lead an uptown life. Next to rolling off a log, the easiest thing is to tell other people how they ought to bring up their children. "There's a good deal of sarcasm in that," remarked a man suffering from ague as the druggist handed him a bottle of medicine labeled, "Shake before taking."

Stimulate the Blood.

Brandreth's Pills are the great blood purifier. They're a purgative and blood tonic, they act equally on the bowels, the kidneys, and the skin, thus cleansing the system by the natural outlet of the body—they may be called the purgative aperient and diuretic medicine. They stimulate the blood so as to enable nature to throw off all morbid humors, and cure disease no matter by what name it may be called. One or two of them taken every night will prove an infallible remedy. Sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar coated. 1w

SPEAKER CRISP'S CONDITION.

Not Seriously Ill, but Very Weak—The Speaker Pro. Tem.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Speaker Crisp is somewhat improved. The sensational reports as to the serious condition of the Speaker are giving that gentleman's friends much annoyance. Judge Crisp has a severe attack of the grip and nothing more. He has had no pneumonia, nor has he been threatened with it.

Dr. Walsh, the attending physician, said: "Judge Crisp came out of the Speakership fight thoroughly exhausted physically. He ought to have been in bed a week before he was, but he is one of those men that will never give up unless absolutely compelled to. He is still very weak, and this is why he does not improve more rapidly. It may take him two weeks to fully regain his strength. There is nothing in the Speaker's condition to give his friends the slightest alarm."

The probability of the Speaker being unable to be in the House next Tuesday has set the gossips to guessing as to who will be selected as Speaker pro tem. Under the rules of the House the Speaker can, if he so choose, designate some one to preside in his absence. But it has been customary where a long absence was expected to permit the House to select one of its members. In this instance it is probable that the Speaker will designate some one himself.

Some people have suggested that it would be the clever thing for the Speaker to ask Mr. Mills to preside in his absence. Mr. Mills couldn't very well refuse, and it might result in bringing about a better state of feeling, not only between the friends of those gentlemen, but themselves as well.

It is not likely, however, that Mr. Crisp will do any such thing. His friends contend that if Mr. Mills is not a safe man to give him that power even for a limited period.

Naturally there are a good many members who would be glad of this mark of distinction. Bland, of Missouri, and his colleague, Mr. Hatch, Mr. Springer and Mr. McMillin are all mentioned as the likely men. The general opinion seems to be, however, that Mr. McMillin will be the fortunate one.

Should Speaker Crisp be confined to his room for several weeks it will seriously interfere with the business of the House. The party would not care to undertake much important legislation in his absence. Owing to his illness the new rules will not be ready, and the House will be compelled to operate under the rules of its predecessor.

THE DUBLIN EXPLOSION.

John Devoy, of Chicago, Calls it a Tory Trick to Foster Coercion.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 2.—Local Irishmen are cabling for particulars regarding the attempt to blow up Dublin Castle. John Devoy voices the prevailing sentiment in an interview in which he says: "I don't believe that anybody but a Tory tried to blow it up. It looks to me like a government conspiracy. As a result a plea will be made for a continuance of coercion."

"It is mere folly to ascribe the explosion to the Fenians. They never favored such methods, and always advocated open warfare. It would be easier to get away with the Tower of London, than Dublin Castle with its multiplicity of guards."

Outrages of Chinese Rebels.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 2.—While the main body of the rebels in Manchuria appears to be broken up, marauding bands still roam through the country committing outrages and murders. The animosity of these outlaws seems to be chiefly directed against the landowners, whose lives they take without mercy, and from this it is inferred that agrarian troubles have something to do with the outbreaks. The marauders also destroy the temples and plunder the altars, having no more respect for the native than for the Christian religion. As infantry would be useless against the swiftly moving bands of depredators, Viceroy Li Hung Chang has sent a body of cavalry to attack them.

The Lovers Were Killed.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 2.—Edward Spohn and Mary Seigg were killed here in the afternoon by the falling of a wall. The couple were soon to be married, and while taking a stroll were passing the grounds of the Birdsell Manufacturing Company, which are surrounded by a brick wall twenty-two feet high, when without warning the great mass of brick and mortar fell on the lovers and completely buried them. Miss Seigg was instantly killed and Spohn was so badly crushed that he lived but a few moments after being removed from the debris.

Death of James E. Cooper.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.—James E. Cooper, proprietor of the Adam Forepaugh shows, is dead in this city of inflammation of the stomach. He was born in Philadelphia November 4, 1832. He made his first start in the amusements business. He became a circus manager in 1863, and was connected at different times with all the big circuses of the country. In 1890 he purchased Adam Forepaugh's interests. He was a quiet, retiring man. He had much real estate about Philadelphia. He leaves a widow and three children.

In Memory of Parnell.

DUBLIN, Jan. 2.—At Glasnevin Cemetery the mother, brother and sister of the late Charles Stewart Parnell placed on his grave a floral Celtic cross, with the inscription: "May the principles for which he died freshly revive with the New Year and live forever."

Resolutions of Condolence.

The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted at a regular meeting of Watkin Waters Post, No. 149 G. A. R., held on Friday evening, January 1, 1891:

WHEREAS, It has pleased an all-wise Providence to remove from our midst our late Comrade James Cogrove; and

WHEREAS, This sudden visitation has bereft us of one of our most earnest workers and devoted comrades whose loss we deeply feel; therefore be it

Resolved, That we bow in humble submission to the gracious will of our Heavenly Father who is too wise to err and too good to be unkind; and in this solemn visitation are reminded of the vanity of earthly hopes, admonishing us to prepare for the change "beyond the vale of tears" that befalls us when no traveler returns.

Resolved, That in the death of our late Comrade James Cogrove the G. A. R. loses a faithful comrade, the family a devoted husband and father, the community a respected and worthy soldier and citizen.

Resolved, That we tender to the bereaved family our sincere sympathy and condolence in this their sad bereavement; and in the hour of affliction commend them to an all merciful God who "takes up the sinner to the shorn lamb."

Resolved, That our charter be draped in mourning for the space of thirty days in token of respect for our departed comrade, and that a copy of these resolutions be entered upon the minutes and a certified copy sent to the family of the deceased, and published in the EVENING HERALD.
